A Confidential Game

Mrs. S. of Adams street, has recently had a very disagreeable experience.
A well-dressed man recently called at her home and presented his card, which stated that he was "Dr. N., the great eye specialist of Denver." He wanted to sell Mrs. S. a pair of his "medical glasses" and said he had been told that her eyes were in bad condition. Mrs. S. has had trouble in threading her needle for some time, and when the "doctor" said he would examine her eyes without charge and just for love of his profession she consented. Before the examination was over the doctor had convinced Mrs. S. that it was only his opportune arrival with his medical glasses that had saved her from fatal blindness. The doctor was so plausible that almost before she knew it Mrs. S. had the medical glasses and the doctor had $10.00.

These glasses proved unsatisfactory, and recently when Mrs. S. came to our office we fitted her scientifically for just one-half the price. As to the "medical glasses" these can be bought in quantities for twenty cents per pair, and are made for one purpose only—to sell. Moral: Don't be deceived, go to one who is reliable.

Section Director.

BAND CONCERT.—The Pioneer band gave its usual fine concert yesterday afternoon, but for some reason the attendance was not large as usual.

A BISBEE BRUTE.—Con Shy, a Bisbee brute, was arrested a day or two ago in the act of scandalously beating and kicking a woman supposed to be his wife. Her recovery is doubtful.

GOULD IN BISBEE.—George Gould, the railroad magnate, visited Bisbee on Friday in his special train, and from there went on through to San Diego to join his family. He paid the copper city some very pleasing compliments according to the Bisbee papers.

WILL COME WEDNESDAY.—Judge Kibbey did not return home yesterday as was expected, as he had to stop over in Flagstaff to attend to matters concerning a lawsuit in which he is interested. He is not expected here, therefore, till Wednesday morning.

DEATH OF MRS. ARTREE.—Mrs.
Eugenia Artree and a sixteen-year-old son came here about three months ago, the former being ill of consumption.
She died yesterday morning at their temporary home in Brill's addition.
She leaves a husband in San Francisco, who has been notified, funeral arrangements not being made, pending his instructions.

WRECK ON THE G. V. G. & N.—
The southbound train on the G. V. G.
& N. was wrecked Monday five miles south of San Carlos, says the Bulletin.

A coupling pin between an ore and an oil car became unfastened and threw the oil car off the track. The wrecking train was ordered from Globe, and injuries were soon repaired. The train was delayed about five hours.

A CHANGE OF BUSINESS.—H. M.
Thomas who has been for several years news agent on the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix railroad has succeeded, by H. Ketcham who has been with the Consolidated Transfer company. Mr. Thomas and his brother, L. M. Thomas will move to California and will go into the business of traveling photographers.

A YUMA BURGLAR.—A Yuma burglar is still getting in his work, and officers fail to catch him, says the Bulletin. During the early hours of last Monday morning the Ruby saloon was entered and the inner safe door unlocked and $500 in cash taken. Everything indicates that the party or parties were well acquainted with the house and must have taken a wax impression of the lock.

THE CENTER STREET DITCH.— City Engineer Thompson has ordered a carload of cement, which is expected to arrive here in about ten days, when work will be resumed in the construction of the cement ditch on Center street. While this waterway is not designed to be the largest in the world, it is probably the most important one of its size in the world, and has demanded more time and attention from statesmen, politicians, business men, professional men and citizens generally than any other, with the possible exception of the Panama canal and the Tombigbee reservoir.

A STOLEN HORSE.—Horse thieves seem to have a preference for the breed of horses kept by O. H. Christy. He has lost more horses by thieves than any other man in the territory. Another was taken from him on Saturday night. The animal is described as a sorrel mare, a single footer, branded J. S. on the left side. She has a white face and her hind feet are white; also the left fore foot. The ankle of the right fore foot has lately been blistered.
There was taken at the same time a red leather bridle with a straight bit which had been broken and mended by common twine. There is also missing a many colored Navajo rug in which red predominates.

ALL MEN'S JOINT CONCERT.— Mention has been made of the possible repetition of the concert given by the men in the Christian church on last Thursday night, in answer to the requests that have come up from every direction. Arrangements have now been perfected for the repeating of this most enjoyable programme in the First M. E. church on next Thursday night, under the joint auspices of the Methodist and Christian church choirs.

Only men will participate, but they will not forget to mention the ladies in the symposium and in their songs. The programme will be changed slightly, by the addition of some musical numbers, but the same chorus will be sung by the male chorus of eighteen voices.

LECTURE REPEATED.—The lecture of Mrs. Col. Higgins, of the Salvation Army, on the life and work of Consul Emma Booth-Tucker, was repeated at the Durris theater last night.
As on the evening before, it was illustrated by beautiful colored stereopticon pictures of incidents in the life of Mrs.
Booth-Tucker from her early childhood to the close of her career, and in many lands from India to the Pacific coast of America. There was also an interesting series of moving pictures showing scenes that occurred on the occasion of her funeral. There was a very fair sized audience to begin with, and it was swelled materially by members of the congregations of the various churches, who went to the theater at the conclusion of their own services, knowing that the lecture would be long. Even those who came late heard a great deal of interest that was new to them concerning the remarkable woman whose life work was devoted to the uplifting of humanity. A number of musical selections were also given, and a short talk was made by Col.
French, who has charge of the work on the coast. The meetings held yesterday in the theater were all well attended and very satisfactory.

An ideal all the year 'round home furnished by the year on very reasonable terms. Owner is away and desires permanent reliable tenant rather than fancy rental. Windmill with tank modern conveniences. Beautiful grounds

GIBSON-COTTRELL CASE

Appeal From the Turf to the Court To Be Heard Today.

The legal contest over the speed contest between Belladonna and Little Sparks last Thursday will take place today. There is an impression that the matter cannot be settled by law, and it is a question whether there can be a settlement upon any basis. There is an agreement between the owners of the horses in the hands of the stakeholder, under the agreement was not drawn with the expectation that a controversy of this kind would come up, and it is therefore open to a variety of constructions. The agreement says that the race shall be fair and square, and then it deals with the matter of the stakes. What is a fair and square race under one set of rules or under no rules at all might not be fair and square under another set of rules.

It is argued by some that though no rules had been agreed upon for the race of Saturday, the track being an association track, the race must have been run by the rules of the association. But it is required that the rules of the association must be hung up in the judges' stand. That formality was omitted.

It is contended by the Cottrell people that there was no violation of any racing rules; that Little Sparks took the pole a third of the distance down the stretch, and that in going so the pole did not interfere in any way with the speed of Belladonna. Yesterday the Gibson people and their attorney visited the track and said that they found where Belladonna had been crowded into the border, where the soft earth is six inches deep.

An effort will also be made to show that Saxon, the rider of Little Sparks, had been ruled off of California tracks for crookedness, and that he therefore was disqualified from riding on an association track last Saturday.

Mr. S. W. Hamilton, the piano tuner is back from his northern trip.
All orders for piano tuning may be left at Redewill's or Fountain's music store and will receive his prompt attention.
